Tips to manage your data usage while roaming internationally on cruise ships

Manage your apps

Some apps consume more data than others. Knowing this in advance of your travels can help you avoid unexpected charges. Consider monitoring usage of:

- ✓ Apps that use location like navigation, news and weather
- ✓ Social media
- ✓ Video chatting
- ✓ Games with heavy graphics and those requiring an internet connection

Disable any apps running in the background that you're not using.

Avoid streaming

Streaming content is extremely data intensive. You can download content before leaving home to avoid streaming movies, videos, music or other content while abroad.

Track your usage

You can track your cellular data usage with your device's auto-check feature. This feature is generally indicated as "Cellular Data Usage" within "Settings" on your device. Reset the tracker once you start your voyage.

Disable email auto-check

Switch your phone's email settings from "Push" to "Fetch." This allows you to manually download your email when you want to.

Data usage with messaging apps

When you're traveling on board our ship, all calling and messaging apps are treated as data rather than as text messages. Use for these types of applications is billed as cellular data usage. To disable, go to the application's settings in the "Settings" menu.

Use Wi-Fi connections when available

Wi-Fi usage does not count towards your international data allowance.

Think about Turning off data roaming

When you don't want to use cellular data, turn it off entirely. Go to "Settings" on your device and look for "Cellular" or "Network" options. You will still be able to use voice and text services.

Turn on airplane mode

if you don't want to use any of the cellular services, set your phone on airplane mode.

Compatible device with domestic postpaid wireless service required. One-time charge applies. Packages are valid for 30 days beginning on the chosen effective date, may cross 2 bill cycles, and expire automatically. Packages will not be prorated if canceled on or after the chosen effective date. After expiration, pay-per-use rates will apply unless a new package is purchased. Packages are designed for use onboard cruise ships while at sea; therefore, usage on board a cruise ship is required. Messages received while roaming are billed at applicable domestic rates. Packages available only through AT&T Customer Care and are not currently available in-store or online. Please note: To the extent you added a Mexico Roaming BonusSM package and/or also purchased an AT&T Passport or Canada/Mexico Travel Minutes package for use when attached to land-based cellular networks in Canada, Mexico, or the Caribbean, those rates will prevail over the cruise package allowance or overage rates. To the extent you continue to use select expired calling offers such as World Traveler, AT&T Canada, or AT&T Mexico, the cruise package rates will prevail. "Cellular at Sea" Display: On-board networks operate only while in international waters. Therefore, your AT&T cruise package allowances and overage rates for usage on-ship only apply when "Cellular at Sea" displays on your device. Cruise package allowances and overage rates also apply off-ship, but only to the extent you are attached to land-based cellular networks in Canada, Mexico, and the Caribbean. Everywhere else (including where "Cellular at Sea" is not displayed), pay-per-use rates apply, unless an additional current package offer applicable to country visited is active on the line of service.
